TOUR OVERVIEW

DANDELI: India has many options for family and friends holidays, corporate groups retreats, couples getaways or enthusiastic adventure seekers' venues!. There are favored locations such as Wildlife Sanctuaries, Hill stations, Deserts, or Snow-Capped mountains.

There are few destinations which are lesser known and not frequented by many. One such hidden jewel is Dandeli in Karnataka. Not known to many, this second largest Wildlife Sanctuary of the state is located on the banks of river Kali. Dandeli has one of the densest forest covers in India and known for its biodiversity. This place has a vast green coverage resulting in pristine air to breathe. Aply called "Oxygen bank of the world", visitors will feel the change within few hours of entering this gem of a place.

Dandeli has a rich diversity of flora and fauna which includes Tigers, Elephants, Antelopes, Reptiles, Deer and more than 300 species of birds. A point to note is that there are 4 varieties of hornbills. Pied, Malabar Grey, Indian Grey and the famous Great Indian Hornbill and all can be easily spotted here. Very few people know that Dandeli has a good population of Black Panthers too. Of course, one has to be lucky to sight as the dense foliage and heavy undergrowth keeps the wildlife well hidden. Driving through these green forests leaves one thrilled.

It is not just the wildlife which makes Dandeli an option to travel. There is a long list of activities for everyone from teenagers to grandparents in Dandeli. Such as:

- Bird watching
- Nature trails
- White water rafting

- Night trails around the camps/resorts
- Camping in the woods
- The long list of Water sports (Kayaking, Zorbing, Natural Jacuzzis, Zip lining and many more)
